V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

| | | | |
|-------------------------------|--------|------|-----|
| Novelty (N) | Claims | 1-26 | YES |
| | Claims | | NO |
| Inventive step (IS) | Claims | 1-26 | YES |
| | Claims | | NO |
| Industrial applicability (IA) | Claims | 1-26 | YES |
| | Claims | | NO |

2. Citations and explanations

Document 1: JP, 10-319051, A (The Tokyo Electric Power Co., Inc.), 4 December, 1998 (04.12.98)

Document 2: JP, 8-201440, A (Toshiba Corp.), 9 August, 1996 (09.08.96)

Document 3: JP, 7-270505, A (Hoya Corp.), 20 October, 1995 (20.10.95)

Document 4: JP, 7-159450, A (NGK Insulators, Ltd.), 23 June, 1995 (23.06.95)

The subject matters of claims 1-26 appear to be novel, since they are not described in any of documents 1-4 cited in the ISR.

A technique of a current measuring instrument comprising (1) a holding means for holding plural optical fibers with predetermined intervals kept between them and (2) a lens system where an image forming point is set at an optical fiber sensor and the end face core portion of the first optical fiber, is not considered to be obvious to a person skilled in the art from the prior art. So, the subject matters of claims 1-26 appear to involve an inventive step.

The subject matters of claims 1-26 appear to be industrially applicable, since they can be produced or used in the field of current measuring instruments.

VIII. Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:

Claims 8 and 17

Claim 8 quotes claim 7, and hence claim 8 quotes claims 1-3. In this case, though "the said lens system" is described in claim 8, no lens system is described in claims 1 and 2.

This applies also to claim 17.
